Do You Know ? / Savez-Vous ?

They Keep Getting Younger !!

In the Grandmaster A Group of the recent Corus, Wijk aan Zee, Netherlands tournament, young 16 year old Ukrainian prodigy, Sergey Karjakin, came an amazing 5th/6th in the 14 player tournament. It had an average rating of 2716. He was rated 2660.

In the Corus Grandmaster B Group, 15 year old Norwegian sensation, Magnus Carlsen, rated 7th, tied for first, and therefore won the right to play in the A Group next year. Also in the 2005 FIDE World Cup, he came 9th out of 128, and qualified for the World Championship Candidates' Matches.

Now we have a new youngster to watch. Born in 1993, a 12 year old from Delhi, India achieved his second GM norm in late January at the Parsvanath International Open in Delhi, India!! He is Parimarjan Negi, and his current FIDE rating is 2396 (with his 2 recent tournaments not yet included). He just achieved his first GM norm in early January at the Hastings International Chess Congress. All he needs now to become a GM is a third GM norm, and to get his rating over 2500. He is obviously a young player to watch !

If he gets his GM soon while still 12 years old, he will become the world's youngest current GM. But he will not be the youngest GM ever. That honour belongs to Karjakin, who got his GM in 2002, when he was 12 years 7 months old !! (Negi is already slightly older than that). Carlsen is currently the second youngest GM ever, getting his GM title in 2004, when he was 13 years 3 months old.

2005/6 SCC Club Championship

This tournament started on Thursday, January 5, 2006. The Championship Section is a 10 player round robin (8 highest rated players registering, plus the first and second place finishers in the 2004/5 club championship Reserve Section). Playing in the Championship Section this year are (ratings as of Jan. 5) : Bryan Lamb (2161), John Hall (2141), Donal Deiseach (1972), Jim Paterson (1921), Sascha Rapoport (1822), Pepin Manalo (1774), Rick Garel (1752), Pino Verde (1724), your intrepid editor, Bob Armstrong (1694 – Reserve Qualifier), and Maurice Smith (1581 – Reserve Qualifier).

After 6 rounds, Jim Paterson has the lead, with 4.5 pts.. There are 3 players tied for 2nd with 4 pts., but 2 have the potential to overtake Paterson : Donal Deiseach (with a game in hand), Rick Garel (with a game in hand) and Sascha Rapoport (out of 6 games). Not to be counted out by a long shot, is last year's champion, and the highest rated player in the championship, Bryan Lamb, who so far has only dropped 1 1/2 pts., and so potentially could be in a tie with Paterson. As well, Deiseach, Garel and Paterson still have Bryan to play !

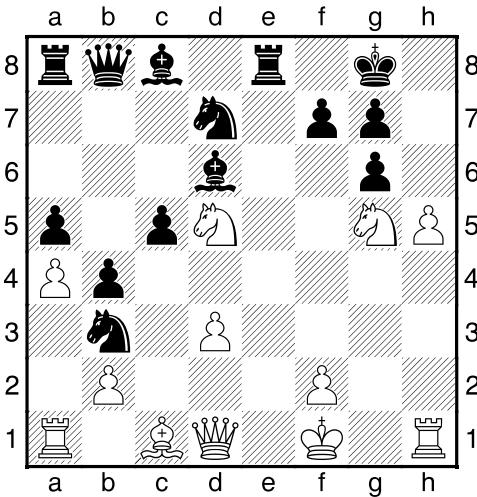

Here is a game from Round 3, between Pino Verde and Pepin Manalo, where Pino executes a good win, though he misses some great shots along the way (notes by Bob Armstrong, using Fritz) :

Here is a game from the fifth round. Jim Paterson was then leading the tournament with 3 pts. out of 4 rounds. Rick Garel had 2 ½ pts., but out of only 3 games; and so a win would vault Rick into first place, with still having a game in hand. Here is their game, which sees Jim sacking a queen for a R+N+B (Annotations by Rick Garel [RG], and Bob Armstrong [BA], using Fritz) :

Canadian Correspondence Chess

(submitted by David Cohen)

There have been rapid developments in the world of correspondence chess (CC) in the past year. Originally played by mail, CC evolved through e-mail and on to a new phase: play by web server. Players log-in to a central server and make their moves on-screen. At last, no more lost moves, illegal moves, ambiguous moves, or excuses!

In Canada, the Canadian CC Championship was played for the first time by webserver. The results were quick to arrive: Wayne Hynes clinched first place within a year of the start of the tournament. In fact, within a few months of each other, first place was decided in four consecutive Canadian CC Championships, as all of the previous events slowly wrapped up.

On the international scene, Alexander Ugge of Keswick, Ontario, had an excellent year in 2005. He made his final norm for, and received, the title Correspondence Grandmaster, becoming only the fifth Canadian to do so. He won a Candidates section in the 22nd World CC Championship cycle, qualifying for the Finals. Finally, he commenced play in the Finals of the 21st World CC Championship.
