OCA & CFC Threatened with Lawsuit

Introduction

This is a matter that has been simmering since the start of 2005. We are trying to assemble the facts and allegations on all sides of the issue insofar as they relate to current chess structures in respect of ethics disputes. We feel that members of the OCA and the CFC must be aware of what is currently happening, and the risks now arising in relation to both organizations.

Background – Dixon Suspension

Facts

- a dispute between the Kingston Chess Club ( Wayne Coppin, president ) and former KCC member, Frank Dixon.
- KCC alleged Dixon's conduct at the club was unacceptable.
- Dixon declares that he always acted as a good member of the KCC.
- in early 2005 the executive suspended Dixon with a right to reapply for reinstatement in Sept. 2005.
- Dixon disagreed with the decision and the penalty.

Hearing Process Concerns

- it has not been disclosed in detail what the specific items of allegation were

- against Dixon. Did any of the allegations involve Dixon's complaints that Coppin cheated in some KCC tournaments? Did any involve Dixon's allegations of impropriety by the Executive itself?
- if so, should Coppin have sat in on and had a vote on Dixon's suspension ( conflict of interest? ) ?
- similarly, for the executive itself, should they have been deciding if they are in conflict?
- a problem - who should determine this issue of suspension if the executive cannot ? - a special hearing committee of neutral members? - another body e.g. the OCA? It appears that there is nothing in place currently to give guidance on such an issue.
- Dixon was not invited to the " hearing " which determined his fate – the Executive met by telephone ( though he had been involved in prior hearings concerning his conduct ). This seems strange, regardless of whether " everyone knew everyone else's side of the matter ".

Appeal from Discipline Decision by KCC Executive

- in general cases of discipline decisions by the executive, to whom/where does a member appeal? One logical place for an Ontario club would be the OCA. Presently there seems to be no structure in place for any appeal nor an OCA willingness to receive an appeal from an aggrieved member.
- Frank Dixon advised that he never brought an appeal before the OCA, regarding his suspension by the KCC/Coppin.
- does the OCA claim to have jurisdiction regarding appeals? Is this a deficiency in the OCA structure? We ask the OCA to seriously consider instituting an appeals procedure.

Libel Allegation

Allegations by Coppin/KCC & by Dixon

What leads to the threatened lawsuit against the OCA and CFC? The issue seems to arise because Dixon, after being suspended, went onto ChessTalk & the Ottawa Chess Club Message Board , and made public allegations against the KCC. Later he made allegations of " cheating " against Coppin, although Dixon had not brought a complaint to any TD in any of the CFC tournaments where he alleges Coppin cheated. Coppin responded that he was being libeled, and that Dixon should cease and desist. The KCC also says it is being libeled. Dixon continued his public allegations.

Remedial Steps by Dixon

1) OCA “ Complaint “

- Dixon in Sept. 2005 wrote to the OCA inquiring about bringing a “ complaint “ against Coppin, for cheating in a CFC tournament.
- Dixon has publicly stated that Barry Thorvardson, OCA President, “wrote to me that he agreed with my presentation “.
- Thorvardson advised the SCTCN&V :
    ” Dixon discussed a complaint but did not formally initiate one. I advised him that it was over 1 year old at that time, now over two years old, and that the CFC had a disciplinary board, and procedures and burden of proof issues that he could review. “
    ( there is no confirmation of Thorvardson’s statement that “ the CFC had a disciplinary board, and procedures and burden of proof issues that he could review “; what CFC has is a National Appeals Committee to hear appeals from decisions of TD’s )
- OCA and Dixon have refused Coppin’s request for the submitted documentation against him.
- to our knowledge, Dixon did not ever formalize his complaint to the OAC.

2) CFC Complaint

- Did Dixon bring a complaint against Coppin before the CFC, under the prior CFC President, when Chris Mallon was Vice-President, as Coppin alleges [ now Mallon is President ]? If so, what was the result? We have no information on this.

Remedial Steps Taken by Coppin

1) CFC Legislation

- Coppin brought a motion before CFC to amend their legislation to include an Ethics Package, which would deal with unacceptable conduct by a member. We inquired of President Mallon what the disposition of this matter was, and he replied:
    “ The rules state that for a constitutional mail vote, a 2/3rds majority with at least 50% voting governors is required. It does not specify that this is a quorum and while we commonly call it that, it would not automatically invoke any quorum rules.

In any case it was discussed at the AGM and agreed that the Ethics committee as set up in that motion would not be the ideal way to do it, rather an advisory committee for the executive would be better, but no formal motion was made.

- If the package had been passed, and Dixon ceased his allegations, KCC/Coppin were willing to take no further action.

2) OCA Complaint Hearing

- Coppin's complaint to the OCA alleges that since he and Dixon are both members of the OCA, and since Dixon's actions are unbecoming a member of the OCA, it has jurisdiction to hold a hearing, and depending on a successful outcome, to discipline Dixon.
- the OCA by-law states in article 4:

“ Powers of the Board of Governors

4.4 Discipline – The Board shall establish policies and procedures relating to the discipline of Members.....and shall have the authority to discipline Members.....in accordance with such policies and procedures.

Powers of the Executive Committee

4.34 – In addition to any other powers that may be delegated by the Board, the Executive Committee shall have authority to make decisions relating to :

- d) resolving disputes, problems, or grievances brought to the attention of the Corporation;
- e) adjudicating disputes or complaints brought to the attention of the Corporation by members or directors arising from the conduct of the affairs of the Corporation, Regional Affiliates or any member. “

( When we requested the OCA send us the “ policies and procedures “ on this issue, Thorvardson replied that no policies had been voted on nor passed by OCA Governors )

- the OCA Executive did meet on the complaint, and did issue Coppin a decision. It appears they did not hold a formal hearing with both parties present. In the end, the OCA decided they would take no action. [But it appears at some point, Thorvardson, did request Dixon to cease his allegations, while the Dixon inquiry was in process ].
- though no formal decision on this complaint has been released by the OCA, Thorvardson did respond to an inquiry by SCTCNV with the following summary of the essential decision as follows :

“ Coppin has complained about writings on internet bulletin boards, which I advised him that the OCA has no jurisdiction on free speech, and is only a vehicle if related to OCA/CFC events, but not related to conduct outside of events.”

- Coppin was dissatisfied with this decision, and felt that the OCA was ducking its responsibility to OCA members by failing to intervene. He alleged that the OCA had a legal obligation to act. Their failure to act, in his view ( he has a legal opinion on this ), makes them liable, should he take them to court. He has threatened he will do this as a last resort, if no other solution comes forward.
- our concern here is that the guidelines/policies as to how to proceed with an ethics complaint against another OCA member are non-existent. As well there is no clear statement of when the OAC will take jurisdiction, outside of the private statement made to us by Thorvardson. The OCA must pass and publish their procedures on this, so members know what steps to take, and when they will be heard.

3) CFC Complaint Hearing

- Coppin filed a formal complaint against Dixon with the CFC. [ Coppin has also publicly alleged that this “ complaint “ was also an “ appeal “ of the unfavourable ruling of the OCA. This is not apparent in the formal “ Complaint “ document we reviewed, nor in the decision of the CFC. If that was Coppin’s intention, it raises a whole new issue in this debate, of the CFC jurisdiction to review/hear appeals on ethical decisions of a provincial organization. ] Again there is nothing specific in the CFC regulations about such a matter. In reply to an SCTCN&V inquiry, CFC President, Mallon stated:

“ When Wayne [ Coppin ]submitted his complaint, since we lacked an actual Ethics Committee, the Executive evaluated it to determine what our best course of action would be. So there weren’t any formal procedures for us to follow. “

- CFC President, Chris Mallon, did deal with the complaint. The Executive did not deal with the issue of their jurisdiction in such a matter directly, but did issue a decision saying on the facts of the case alleged, CFC had no jurisdiction to hear the complaint. ( However, Alex Lambruschini, CFC Governor for the Kingston area, did at one point, on his own initiative, ask Dixon to cease his allegations ).
- again, Coppin was dissatisfied. He alleged they did have jurisdiction regarding a dispute between two members as to “ conduct unbecoming a CFC member “. And they had jurisdiction on the facts of this case ( a matter within the Canadian chess community ). So again, based on his legal opinion, he claimed the CFC was legally liable for failure to act. Once again he threatened that as a last resort he would sue the CFC if no other solution arose.
- we feel the CFC must be clear on this issue – whether they do or do not have jurisdiction. And if they do, then there must be regulations put in place for the guidance of members.

4) A FIDE Complaint Hearing

- Coppin has initiated an ethics complaint to FIDE against the CFC, claiming that CFC, as a member of FIDE, has failed to comply with the FIDE code of conduct, by failing to act on the Coppin complaint.

Recommendations

Action Needed by OCA/CFC

It is our belief that the matters raised in this issue are not frivolous. They strike at the core of what it means to be a club member, an OCA member or a CFC member. It is not sufficient in our view to say the answer is to go to court.

The OCA needs to pass and publicize its procedures on this.

The CFC must make clear decisions in public about whether they are going to take jurisdiction on these issues. And the CFC must make regulation changes if they are going to take jurisdiction here ( or if they legally must ), so that they have clear “ policies and procedures “.

Raising the Profile of These Issues in the Public at Large

It is also important to recognize that Coppin has also stated his intention to wage a public campaign against the OCA and the CFC if they do not change their current positions. This does not sound good for Canadian chess. It behooves the OCA and the CFC to deal with these issues clearly, quickly and publicly, so that they are in a good position to respond to any such publicity campaign.

Cap d' Agde, France, Rapid Tournament

This was an interesting rapid tournament from Oct. 26 to Nov. 7 that brought together a number of top young male and female players, as well as the 12th World Champion, Anatoly Karpov. The 16 players were divided into 2 groups for a preliminary round robin. The top 4 from each group then went into knock out matches to determine the champion. Here were the standings of the initial 2 groups:

Group A Final Standings

		1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
1	Karjakin,Sergey	2672	+69	*	1	%	1	%	%	1	%	5.0/7
2	Radjabov,T	2729	-52	0	*	1	%	1	%	1	%	4.5/7 14.25

5 Bacrot,E	2705	-129	0	%	%	1	*	0	3.5/7 10.25
6 Karpov,Ana	2668	-87	0	%	0	1	*	1	3.5/7 9.75
7 Vachier Lagrave,M	2579	-87	0	0	0	1	%	0	2.5/7
8 Skripchenko,A	2427	-37	0	%	1	0	0	0	1.5/7

There had to be a tie-break double round robin for the B group for 3rd/4th place. The surprise of the tournament was the elimination of Karpov ! Zhao and Bacrot advanced with the first two.

An interesting game was Carlsen's win over Vachier Lagrave, where he offers an unsound exchange sac that gets into a wild tactical position, and wins. Here is the game ( Annotations by Bob Armstrong, using Fritz ):

Guelph Pro Am Report

This swiss in multi-sections was played the weekend of Nov. 4-5. Here is the Organizer/TD report by Hal Bond ( from ChessTalk ):

A total of 57 players played this year, up from 51 last fall. Hopefully this bodes well for the Winter Pro-am in early February.

The distribution of players was unique. In general the pro section continues to be the smallest section. This year we met 3 strong players from Montreal at the door, making the Pro Section 10 players. The U2000 absorbed the U1700 contingent of just 5 players to become the largest group at 24. Last year the U17's was the biggest group , with 16 players. No fewer than 23 players played in the U1400, versus 9 last year.

Aman Hambleton scored 3.5 to take clear first ($225) in the levellest Pro section I have ever seen. Marius Zubac, Kevin Chung and the Montreal 3 - Mario Cloutier, Eric Beaulieu and Eric Bannon split the remaining $250.

Don Gareau won on tiebreak over Roman Sapozhnikov in the U2000. They drew each other eventually and destroyed all else. Remorselessly. John Jordan finished 3rd at 3.5.

Artur Wojtas, Jaime Solis and Gerry Litchfield were the top 3 finishers for U1700.

Jerry ZS Wang posted a perfect result in the U1400, followed by Michael Prysiazny at 4.0. Keith Cober, Mei Chen Lee and Nathan Farrant-Diaz tied for third with 3.5.

Some the games were covered on the Mon Roi site, and several PCM's were used. Some games will be viewable at www.chessexpress.ca

Congratulations to our champions and thanks to all who played.

Toronto Bantam Championship ( U 16 )

This was played on Sunday afternoons at the Bayview Games Club from Sept. 17 – Nov. 5 . The winner was Roman Sapozhnikov.

Toronto Junior Championship ( U 19 )

This was played as well at the BGC from Sept. 17 – Nov. 5. The winner was David Peng.

The Friends of Zoltan Sarosy Active Tournament – Report

( Report by Vlad Dobrich on ChessTalk )

This active one-section swiss was played at the Bayview Games Club on Sunday, Nov. 12. 25 players registered. IM Leonid Gerzhoy handily clinched top prize with 4 1/2 points in five games. The key games were the wins against Noritsyn (round 4) and Barron in round 5. Clear second in the tournament was Nikolay Noritsyn with 4-0. Tied for third were Victor Plotkin, Michael Barron and Brett Campbell all with 3 1/2 - 1 1/2. Zugic was in poor form and lost two in a row - to Noritsyn (rd 3) and Brett Campbell (rd4).

In best form of all was centenarian Zoltan Sarosy who didn't play but appeared spry and in good humour in his brief appearance at the start of the tournament. May he have many more birthdays! Special thanks to Canadian Champion Igor Zugic for taking part.

SCC Late Fall Swiss

On Thursday, Nov. 2, a new one-section, 7 round swiss began. 38 players registered. After 2 rounds, there are 7 players with 2 pts : John Hall, second highest rated player in the club, junior Aman Hambleton, Randy Moysoski, Donal Deiseach, one of last year's club co-champions, Alex Rapoport, another co-champion, Jim Paterson, the third co-champion and Joe Bellomo.

Round 1, as in all swisses, exhibited a fair disparity in the ratings of the opponents. Most of the higher rated opponents were successful in Rd. 1. Here is a sampling of 3 interesting games from Rd. 1.

This first game was on Bd. 3, where Steve Karpik put up some initial good resistance to strong, returning junior Aman Hambleton ( Annotations by Bob Armstrong, using Fritz ):
