CFC 2009-10 FINANCIAL REPORT

June 25th, 2010

Dear Stakeholders:

I am happy to report marked improvements for the 2010 fiscal year as presented in these statements. During the past year we made positive progress in cash flow, and overall net revenues. Also just as importantly, the results of such were reported all year to the CFC Executive almost instantly at the end of each reporting period. Instant reporting of the surpluses was a major factor in the confidence to move ahead and budget the new monthly newsletter, restoring a major membership service, and thus in theory spurring more membership renewals.

Income statement comparisons between fiscal 2010 and 2009 should be put into context; Sales in 2010 dropped by 66%, however the deliberate restructuring of the federation enabled even more significant reduction of expenses to boost overall performance. Membership revenues reported are down slightly, however memberships actually collected are up for the first time in 10+ years. See statements note #5 for an explicit explanation of this apparent paradox. All membership types held steady or increased except the Participating Juniors type which is en route to being phased out. The loss of 76 "P" type members was absorbed by the gain of 29 Adult members. Rating fee revenues went up a healthy 12.7%, see statements note #6 for more info.

Unfortunately there is again a re-statement of previous years, although just 5% in volume of the massive 2009 re-statement, and involving only 2 straight forward issues. 1) Invoices for our North American Zonal fee from fiscal 2006 & 2008 ($1,500 USD each) were handed to Hal Bond in November 2009, presumably as unpaid. Unfortunately we were not aware of these when I prepared last year's statements. I have inquired further about these invoices to verify they are unpaid, but as yet have not received any correspondence from the FIDE North America treasurer. 2) As I was pressed for time last year, an explicit check of the unearned membership value was not performed. This year I did perform an explicit calculation and can verify the figure now listed on the 2010 balance sheet is 100% correct. However the changes from one year to the next may not be exact, but should be close. These changes should be roughly 50% of the change in memberships collected. 2010 & 2009 look about right, so the $1,300 discrepancy must have occurred sometime before fiscal 2009. For more information see statements note #8.

Contributions to these programs are recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenditures are incurred.

The 2009 balance sheet has been re-stated with adjustments as follows; A/P (CR) $3,000 (relating to 2 x FIDE Americas Zonal Fee invoices $1,500 USD each for fiscal 2006 & 2008). Deffered membership revenue (DR) $1,300 to reset to actual - discrepancy believed to have occurred somewhere in fiscal years 2006 to 2008.
