

8 August 1983

This third issue of Northern gives the ratings intermediate between CCE #61 and #62.

The list represents all ratable events received up to 4 August 1983. Noteworthy by their absence are Moncton Eastern Canada Open (Easter - we have received the crosstable, but are still waiting for memberships, fees and rating fees); Canadian Open and Quebec Open.

KASPAROV FORFEITS

Candidates' Matches - Semi-Finals

The Women's all involve Soviet players and will be organized by the USSR Chess Federation. FIDE received 3 bids for Kasparov - Korchnoi. Briefly: USA $50,000; Netherlands $50,000 and Spain $12,500. On other grounds the USA bid is better, but there is always the traditional European preference. There were no bids for Ribli - Smyslov. FIDE has ruled that the semi-finals must begin before 1 August and end before 1 September.

The above is cribbed from Northern 2. Much has happened since.

Around the beginning of June, FIDE President Campomanes announced that Kasparov - Korchnoi would take place in Pasadena, California, starting around July 29.

The June 28th issue of "Sovietsky Sport" daily newspaper gave the following article:

"...According to the rules approved by the General Assembly of FIDE, the FIDE President, upon receiving bids from cities wishing to hold a match, is required to transmit them to the participants, and, taking into account their views, choose a site.

"In spite of the fact that the lists of G.Kasparov and V.Korchnoi included only one city - Rotterdam - the President of FIDE F.Campomanes, in spite of the rules, named Pasadena as the site of the match. Pasadena was chosen by neither of the participants. There is no precedent in FIDE for a match site to be chosen against the wishes of both players.

"The USSR Chess Federation rejects as groundless the attempts of the FIDE President to justify his decision on the basis of popularization of chess and that the US Chess Federation offered FIDE a certain amount of assistance.

"It is well known in the world of sports that the Soviet Chess Federation has made the biggest contribution to the popularity and development of chess, sending Grandmasters, masters and trainers to many of the countries of Asia, Africa and other regions of the world and never asked for any kind of privilege.

"In connection with the groundless decision, the Netherlands Chess union lodged an official protest with FIDE, and the Swiss Chess Federation, in its letter to FIDE, answered 'Your interpretation of putting the interests of FIDE ahead of the wishes of the players is essentially at variance with earlier decisions, and we would like to receive a more detailed explanation of your point of view.'

"The President of FIDE also went against the rules in naming the site of the other Candidates' semi-final match between V.Smyslov (USSR) and Z.Ribli (Hungarian People's Republic) in the city of Abu-Dhabi (United Arab Emirates). He did not even ask the ex-Champion of the World, as required by the regulations, and did not take into account that the climate of that place in August makes playing impossible.

"The USSR Chess Federation, with regard for the opinions of the Soviet participants, announces a firm protest against the FIDE President's unlawful decisions, which merit an urgent convocation of the FIDE Executive Committee or postponement of the matches until the question can be discussed at the FIDE Congress.

"The Soviet Grandmasters retain the right to determine their own future steps with regard to participation in the semi-final Candidates' matches in light of what solutions are found to the problems."

Mr. Campomanes visited Moscow to try to straighten out the matter. He did not change his decision, but on about 20th July announced a delay in the start of the matches to August 6th. On July 19th, we received a call from the Soviet Embassy. On July 20th Counsellor Leonid A. Raina of the Soviet Embassy visited the modest offices of the Chess Federation of Canada to discuss the matter with CFC President Terry Fleming. I was also present. This was the first time an official representative of any government had ever visited the CFC office. Not even Canadian. Gosh.

Mr. Raina wished to enlist our support to have an Executive Committee meeting of FIDE called to discuss the matter. Mr. Fleming stated that he could understand that the decision to hold the match in Pasadena was perhaps irregular, but what specific objections did the Soviets have to that place? Mr. Raina gave the climate and restrictions on movement imposed on any Soviet delegation as the main reasons. Mr. Fleming agreed to advise John Prentice, our FIDE Representative, of the meeting, but did not undertake to guarantee any action on our part.

Flash! Browne, Christiansen, Dzindzikhshvili 9-4 tie for first in US Championship. DeFirmian 8-5.

In fact, an emergency meeting of the FIDE Executive Committee was called, and took place Friday July 29th in Madrid. In attendance was J.G. Prentice.

The Executive Committee, with the exception of Soviet representative Nikolai Krogius and his proxy from Cuba, supported FIDE President Campomanes.

The Soviets announced that their players would not take part, and World Champion Karpov said he would not defend his World Championship title against a forfeit winner.

And so it has come to pass. On Saturday August 6th at 2pm PDT, Kasparov's clock was started in Pasadena and an hour later he was declared forfeited.

Did Campomanes break FIDE's rules, as the Soviets contend? Read the following rules, taken from the FIDE Handbook and decide for yourself:

D. I. 04 / 01 7.3 The General Assembly will decide which federations are entitled to organize the Candidates' matches. Between the annual meetings the President will decide.

7.31 Should it be impossible to find a third federation for the organization of one of the matches, then the President will decide where that match is to be played.

7.32 When choosing the venue, the conditions, the propaganda effects, the climate and the wishes of the participants shall be taken into consideration.

There were no bids for Ribli - Smyslov and the FIDE President took action under 7.31. For Kasparov - Korchnoi the wishes of the players are not the only consideration under 7.32. The decision was irregular, but not illegal.

Why did the Soviets oppose Pasadena and Abu-Dhabi? The August temperature in Abu-Dhabi is about 90 degrees F (32 C). The stress would clearly tell more on 62 year-old Smyslov than on the youthful Ribli.

That much is understandable. But how about Pasadena? The climate is clearly in favour of 20-year old Kasparov over 52-year old Korchnoi. The temperature of 72 degrees F is ideal, and if it gets hot, surely Kasparov, from Baku on the Caspian Sea, is more used to it than Korchnoi, who has never lived south of Switzerland. Incidentally, Baku is in Asia, so Kasparov is the second Asian, after Torre, to become a Candidate.

The other reason given was that the Soviet delegation would not have freedom of movement. That's a hardship, but Soviets should be used to restricted movement from life at home.

So it's time to speculate on the real reasons. You can't just say "They were trying to cause trouble."

Proposition 1: They're afraid that Kasparov would defect. He is of Jewish-Armenian ancestry in a Slavic country that is becoming increasingly nervous about minorities, who are quickly becoming majorities. I think that unlikely. He won't defect, and even if he wanted to, he has had and will have plenty of chances elsewhere. A Kasparov defection is only slightly more likely than Wayne Gretzky retiring from hockey to pursue a career in baseball.

Proposition 2: Unfriendly fans. On the contrary, the fans are likely to favour Kasparov. He's young, handsome, has a popular style and is apolitical. If anything, the Soviets might be afraid he would be too well received, reinforcing Proposition 1.

Proposition 3: Influence of Karpov. Karpov and Kasparov rarely play in the same tournament and it has been speculated that Karpov does not relish meeting Kasparov for the title. What better way to prevent that than to have the Soviet Chess Federation derail this match? This idea also strikes me as far-fetched.

Proposition 4: (you name it). Of course! Why didn't I think of that?

Having lost the first game on time, Kasparov, by FIDE Rule D. I. 04 / 04 10.5 has forfeited the match. FIDE rules specify replacements in the event of withdrawal at the quarter-final stage, but not at later stages. Therefore, pending further action, Korchnoi goes on to meet the winner of Smyslov - Ribli. An unconfirmed rumour concerning the latter is that the players agreed to play the match in Hungary.

Canadians Go Abroad

Canada will be sending Todd Southam to the World Cadet in Bucuramanga, Colombia, Aug 2-17. He will be accompanied by his chess teacher, Roman Pelts. Southam had a good Canadian Open, but just how quickly can a young player improve? We shall see.

Doug Bailey goes to the World Junior in Belfort, France, Aug 12 - 28. We will also field a team in the World Youth Team in Chicago, Aug 21 - Sept 4. The CFC Governors approved an expenditure of $1000 or 50% of the travel and accomodation expenses, whichever is greater. Canada's team is: 1.Ilias Kourkounakis (by special dispensation of the FIDE President); 2.Ian Findlay; 3.Robert Hamilton; 4.Alex Kuznecov; 5.George Levitchouk; 6.Brett Campbell.

Spraggett Wins Everything

Kevin Spraggett won the World Open on tiebreak, tied for first place in the Canadian Open with Yugo GM Bozidar Ivanovic, and took first place clear in the Quebec Open, all in one month. He picked up over $5,000 Cdn.

Canadian Open in Toronto attracted 350 players, slightly below the hoped-for 400+. Tied for third with 7.5, half a point back, were Lawrence Day and Micheal Wilder of Princeton, NJ.

Quebec Open in Montreal also pulled in 350, well below last year's mark. Second place went to Stefan Djuric, another Yugo GM. Among those left eating Spraggett's dust were GM Ivkov, IMs Ivanov and Roos (France). Spraggett went 6-0, defeating Djuric and Ivanov, then drew Ivkov and Roos in the last two rounds. Djuric could have caught him, but was unable to obtain more than a draw with countryman Ivkov in the last round, after 6 hours.

The Soviets won the European Team Championship in Bulgaria, way ahead of Yugoslavia (2nd), Hungary (3rd) and England (4th).
